[XXth Year.] THURSDAY, July 12, 1764. [No. 1001.]

TALBOT County, July 1st, 1764.

Mr. GREEN,

AS you were pleased, in your Paper of the 28th of June, to take some Notice of a malignant Fever, that had carried off a great many Negroes in Talbot County, and as that Disorder, tho' now subsided here, is frequently incident to all these Colonies, by Means of Servants or Slaves bought from on board of crowded Ships, perhaps the following Dissertation, on that dangerous and often fatal Malady, may not be unacceptable to many of your Readers.

It's Symptoms are generally, a Chillness at first, which in some, attended with a Sense of Heat and Cold by Turns, continues for Ten or Twelve Hours; a Sense of Tightness round, rather than acute Pain in, the Head; Sickness at Stomach, and Nausea; a Pain in the Back and Loins, and sometimes wandering Pains all over the muscular Flesh. The Pulse in this Period (which continues generally the first 24 Hours) I cannot precisely describe, having never seen any of them so early in the Distemper, but am told, that it is very irregular, sometimes slow and full, at other Times quick and low. During the whole Course of the Disorder, the Drought is seldom considerable. The second and following Days the Strength and Spirits sink, even when no Evacuation has been used, the Pulse becomes quick, small and thready, the Skin feels rather cooler than in Health, but the Patient complains of vast internal Heat, Languor, Weight and Oppression, upon the Præcordia; the Countenance appears stupid and dejected, the Eyes heavy and languid, and they complain of a Kind of Confusion in the Head (as they express it) which, tho' it deprives them of Rest and Sleep, yet seldom rises to a Delirium.

Sometimes for an Hour or Two, they seem perfectly easy, their Pulse, Respiration and Heat, regular and moderate, and if ask'd, they will tell you they are much better; but in a little Time, the Scene is altered without any manifest Cause, all the Symptoms recurring with double Violence, such as vast Anxiety and Oppression about the Præcordia, intense Heat in the Bowels, a deep and labouring Respiration, interrupted with frequent Sighs; but these Exacerbations are most common towards Night, tho' not so regularly and constantly so, as to constitute the Fever a regular Remitent. A Yellowness of the Eyes and Tongue coming on about the Fifth or Sixth Day, has always been a fatal Symptom in those I have seen, and they seldom reach the Ninth Day alive: In general, these that outlive the Ninth Day, get over it; tho' I have heard of some who have lingered a Fortnight or more, and died at last, but that was where no Assistance from Medicine was used. The Body is generally costive for the first Five or Six Days, unless any opening Medicine has been given, on the Use of which, or a loose Stool from a Clyster, the Patient generally finds great Relief. I have not seen any who have had a Subsultus Tendinum, or much Tremor in the Hands, but several, whose Tongues have trembled much upon being put out to look at; nor have I observed any petechial Spots, but these are hardly visible on Negroes, and I have never seen any white Person, who had the Disorder in so violent Degree as it is common among the Negroes, nor have I attended any white Person that died of it, except one Woman, whose Condition (being then in Childbed) might prevent the Eruption of these Spots, and her I did not see the Three last Days of her Illness.

This is a pretty exact Description of the Disease, taken from too many who have fallen Sacrifices to it's Malignity; and if compared with Dr. Pringle's Account of the Hospital Fever, or all Disease, or with Huxham's, of the malignant putrid Fever, it will be apparent, that they are nearly related, if not the same Disease, allowing for the quicker Progress of the Distemper here, from the Heat of the Climate.

It is certainly more Infectious, and more Fatal among Negroes, than among white People, for which several Reasons may be assigned; as their nasty, close, crowded Places they generally lie in; next, their natural Temperament, and Habit of Body, more subject to putrid Diseases than the White, which is obvious from the very rank noisome Smell of their Bodies, shewing their Humours to be nearer a State of Putrefaction, than those of the white People; and lastly, their gross putrescent Diet of Pork and Hog's Fat, uncorrected with Vinegar or spirituous Liquors. This Disorder (as I have been told) has several Times appeared in this Province, and at it's first breaking out, made terrible Havock among the Negroes, sometimes passing under the Name of the Yellow Fever, and as other Times, under the more general Denomination of a malignant One. Medical Writers do not seem to be agreed on their Notions of Malignity; some of them, particularly Dr. Sydenham, ascribe it to hot and spirituous Particles in the Blood and Humours; others (especially among the Ancients) to something inexplicable, et quasi "TO THEION; but the Moderns, especially Pringle, seem to think it nothing else than an incipient Putrefaction in the Humours of the Body: And when we reflect that malignant Fevers, such as the Jail Disease, or Hospital Fever, and even the Plague itself, not only may, but often do in Fact, arise from the putrid Effluvia of Filth and Nastiness in Jails, or crowded Ships, of Sores, Mortifications, and other noisome Distempers in Hospitals, or the Corruption of dead Bodies in hot Climates, we cannot help concluding, that most (if not all) Kinds of Malignity, are owing to putrid Particles entering our Bodies, either with the Breath, or even thro' the Pores of the Skin, and mixing with our Blood and Humours, which they endeavour to assimilate to their own Nature, by tainting them with a putrescent Quality. And this Conjecture seems to be confirmed, from the most approved and successful Methods of Cure used in malignant Fevers, and the various Symptoms attending them, which are all easily and naturally deducible from Putrefaction. But as a Disquisition into the Nature of malignant Symptoms, and their Connection with the general Cause here assign'd, would lengthen out this Essay, perhaps already too tedious for a Publication in a News-Paper, I shall confine myself now to the Method of Treatment, most agreeable to Reason, and the most salutary from Experience: And this consists of Two Parts, the Prophylactick and Therapeutick, or Preservative and Curative.

For the first, when any Slave is taken with the Symptoms of this Fever, let all the rest be kept as much as possible from him; let them be removed to some other House; if in the Summer, a Barn will do; the more airy and cool the better; let them have plenty of tough hard Cyder to drink at their Meals, and every Morning give each of them a Glass of Spirits well impregnated with Bitters, such as the Black Snake Root, Camomile Flowers, Gentian, Wormwood, and Rue, but above all the Peruvian Bark, universally allowed to be the strongest Antiseptick in all the Materia Medica. Let the Patient's Room be kept clean and well aired, and frequently strewed with fresh gathered Aromatick Herbs, and let Tar be kept smoaking at the Door, and where Cyder is not to be had, let the Negroes drink tart Water for their common Drink. By this Method the Progress of the Disorder was stopt in some Families, where it had made it's Appearance, and even the Attendants on the Sick were preserved from Infection.

In the Cure of the Sick, begin with a gentle Vomit, administered as soon as the Person complains, and if that does not work downwards as well as upwards, let the Bowels be emptied, and kept open, either with repeated emollient Clysters, or gentle Cathartick, such as the Cream of Tartar and Manna, Glauber Salts, or Senna and Rhubarb, to be repeated occasionally thro' the whole Course of the Disorder; for a regular Crisis is not to be expected, and if any such does appear, it is generally by Stool. Let the Patient drink plenty of Sage or Balm Tea, with the Spiritus Nitri dulcis, or Tamarind Water. A diaphoretick Mixture, made with a Drachm of the Sulvus Cornu cervi, Camp. and an Ounce of the Spiritus Mindereri, in Five Ounces of Sage Tea, to be taken by Two Spoonfuls at a Dose, during the Exacerbations of the Fever, and indeed every Two Hours throughout the Night, and some Preparation of the Bark in the Forenoons. I at first tried the Decoctum Peruvianum of Dr. Pringle, but thought it less effectual, and therefore changed it for the Powder of Bark alone, of which I have ordered Half a Drachm Three or Four Times in the Forenoon. And in this Fever, where there is a quick low Pulse, no Symptom of Inflammation, and little Drought or external Heat, I have neither seen, nor can apprehend, any Danger from the free Use of that noble Specifick; but am well convinced, from repeated Experience of it's strong antiseptick Qualities, that it is both the best Preservative, and the most certain Cure, in all putrid Diseases whatever, and therefore should not hesitate a Moment to give it the Preference to all other Medicines, for both Intentions, even in the Plague itself.

The Evacuant that I have most commonly used in the Beginning of these Fevers, has been the James's Powders, which I think preferable to any other that I know, because it operates mildly the first Dose or Two both upwards and downwards, and with the Assistance of the above diaphoretick Mixture, given [illegible] Three Hours after the Powder, generally discovers the Patient to a moderate Sweat, which, if equal, universal, and attended with a moist Tongue, is always serviceable: but after the second Dose, it [illegible] purges, except the Dose be much increased, which I have never ventured to do, to above Two Thirds of a Paper, but have, after the second, or at most the Third Dose of the Powder, kept the Body open with Clysters, or the milder Cathartick as above. The James's Powders, and other Evacuants, I have generally given in the Evening, and the Bark in the Forenoons. As the Patient's Strength and Spirits are generally much sunk, I have allowed them a little Wine in their Gruel, and Wine Whey, when I wanted to promote a Sweat. Bleeding I have never used, nor think it manifest, unless with a strong full Pulse, the Symptoms run very high at first, which is seldom the Case even in robust Habits. Blisters in the Beginning are pernicious, and in the State useless; but towards the Decline, when the Solids grow torpid, the Circulation languid, and the Spirits effete, they may be used with Advantage.

This is what has occured to me in the Treatment of this Disorder, and that this Publication may be of some Service to those People, who are so unhappy as to be seized with the malignant Fever at Places distant from any Physician, is the sole Aim, and Wish of

Your humble Servant,

BENEVOLUS.

* Gent. But we have no GREAT Type.

LONDON, April 20.

THE Number of Bills which received the Royal Assent Yesterday, was Sixty-four. Both Houses were prorogued to the 21st of June, after a Speech from his Majesty, conceived in these most gracious Terms:

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I CANNOT put an End to this Session of Parliament, without renewing you my Thanks for the prudent and salutary Measures which you have taken to extend the Commerce, and to secure the Happiness, of my Kingdoms.

The Assurances which I have received of the pacific Disposition of the several Powers with whom we were lately at War, and of their Resolution to adhere inviolably to the Terms of the late Treaty, promise the Continuance of Peace abroad; and the firm and temperate Exertion of your Authority, joined to the constitutional and public spirited Conduct which you have manifested on every Occasion during the present Session, will, I trust, establish at Home due Obedience to the Laws, Reverence to the Legislature, and Domestic Union.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you for the Supplies which you have so chearfully and unanimously granted. The [illegible]

Provided you have made the Several Supplies recommended to you, and especially for maintaining my Fleet, in a reputable State, will, I am confident, preserve to this Nation its proper Weight and Influence, and give Strength and Security to all my Dominions.

The wise Regulations which have been established to augment the publick Revenues, to unite the Interests of the most distant Possessions of my Crown, and to encourage and secure their Commerce with Great Britain, calls for my hearty Approbation.

Your regard to public Credit, in discharging a part of the heavy Debt contracted and unprovided for during the late War, without imposing on this Kingdom the Burthen of any new Taxes, is particularly pleasing to me, from the tender Concern which I feel for my People.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It is the proper Employment of this Season of Tranquility, to consider of the most effectual Means for Perfecting those Works of Peace, and Plans of public Utility, which have been so wisely and happily begun.

I recommend these important Objects to your Consideration during the Recess. You may depend upon my constant Endeavours for the Success of these good Purposes; as I shall ever deem it my truest Glory, to employ that Power with which the Constitution hath entrusted me, in promoting your real Interests, and lasting Happiness.

Yesterday Morning came Advice to the India House, that the Ashburnham, Pearce, and the Plasley, Ward, were arrived off the Isle of Wight. They bring a melancholy Account of Damage done in Madrass Road, the 21st of October, 1763, viz.

Ship Union, Reynolds, [illegible]more, and beat to Pieces. Fazala, Hawke, [illegible] cut away their Masts, and foundered. Snow Sea Boat, Gibson; Ketch Trial, Gilchrist; and Snow Speedwell, Moore, ran [illegible], and beat to Pieces. Snow Calcutta, Watson, foundered. Snow Success, Elliot, ran ashore. Snow London, Black, do. nothing saved. Snow Neptune, Tracey, ran foul of the Calcutta, and both sunk together. Snow Nelly, Gibson, drove ashore, and beat to Pieces. The Hope,—, foundered.

The Norfolk, Admiral Cornish; the America, Capt. Pitchford; and the Weymouth, Capt. Collins, put to Sea the 20th, and returned the 24th dismasted, with much Water in their Holds. The Ship Royal Charlotte, Capt. Tingle, of 400 Tons, a Country Ship, put to Sea with the Men of War, and returned with the Loss of her Fore and Main Masts. Admiral Cornish, Capt. Pitchford, and Capt. Collins, are ashore; also all the Country Captains, except Captain Tracey; and upwards of 30 Paddy Boats foundered or drove ashore. We likewise learn, that the Nabob Cassim Ali Cawn has put to Death all the Prisoners he took at Patna, to the amount of about 50 or 60. Mr. Pigot, late Governor of Madrass, is arrived in the Plasley, Capt. Ward; and it is said that Robert Palk, Esq; is appointed Governor in his room. Mrs. Vansittart and her Children are arrived in the Plasley. The British King, Pigou, and Pitt, Jackson, from London, are both arrived in the East Indies.

By some private Accounts received from the East-Indies we hear, that after the Nabob had taken the English Prisoners to Patna, he put them into a Dungeon, and ordered two of them to be brought out, and put to Death in the most cruel Manner; which coming to the Knowledge of the rest, they resolved to defend themselves to the last Extremity; on which the Nabob had the Place set fire to, and they were all suffocated.

Sentence of a General Court-Martial, held at the Horse-Guards, on Saturday the 14th, and continued by several Adjournments to Wednesday the 18th of April, 1764, for the Trial of the Hon. Major General ROBERT MONCKTON, late Commander in Chief of his Majesty's Forces at the Reduction of the Island of Martinico, on a Complaint preferred against him by Collin Campbell, Esq; heretofore Major Commandant of the 100th Regiment of Foot.

"The Court is of Opinion, that the Charge and Complaint of Collin Campbell, Esq; against the Major-General ROBERT MONCKTON, is altogether unsupported by Evidence, and in some Points expressly contradicted by the Complainant's own Witnesses, and doth therefore most honourably acquit the said Major General MONCKTON of the same, and every part thereof; and the Court is farther of Opinion, that the said Charge and Complaint is groundless, malicious, and scandalous in the highest Degree, and tending not only to injure the said Major General MONCKTON in his Character, but to hurt the Service in general, as it must greatly affect every Officer who may have the Honour of commanding a Body of his Majesty's Troops, when he reflects that his Character and Reputation are liable to be thus publickly attacked, by a Person who has been dismissed his Majesty's Service with Ignominy.

"It is likewise the Opinion of this Court, that the Complainant, Collin Campbell, Esq; has by many Falsities, imposed upon his Majesty's Secretary at War, in order to obtain a Court-Martial."

Major General MONCKTON, who so bravely distinguished himself at the taking of Martinico, it is said, will soon be created a Knight of the Bath, and a Lieutenant-General.

Extract of a Letter from the Little Falls, dated June 18.

"On Saturday last 28 Companies of the Militia, amounting to about 1200 Men, were reviewed at Mr. Brant's, about a Mile above Fort Henrick, by Sir William Johnson, who, after the Review, entertained them with a large Ox, and a Number of Sheep, whole, and gave them a Barrel of Rum to drink his Majesty's Health. There were a Number of Indians present, amongst whom were some of the Senecas; who, on their return home, will tell their People, that the English are coming in vast Bodies towards the Frontiers; this will undoubtedly have a good Effect, in engaging them to keep firm and steady to their late Convention with Sir William, fearing that their People should march against them in case of a Rupture. Yesterday Evening Sir William set out for Niagara, accompanied by his Son-in-Law Mr. Guy Johnson, and John Duncan, Esq; of Schenectady, with 30 of the Chiefs and most noted Warriors of the lower Castles of the Mohawks, who intend on accompanying Sir William's Person in particular in his Voyage. They sang the War Songs, and danced, taking Sir William by the Hand with the most convincing Proofs of their Attachment."

Among the Bills passed last Session of Parliament, are the following, viz.

A Bill to allow the Export of Rice from Georgia and South-Carolina to the American Colonies, on paying the same Duty as in England.

A Bill to encourage the Whale Fishery in the Gulph and River of St. Lawrence, and on the Coast of the American Colonies.

A Bill to prevent Paper Bills of Credit hereafter to be issued, from being declared to be a legal Tender of Payment in the American Colonies.

A Bill to grant a Bounty on the Import of Hemp and undressed Flax from the American Colonies.

A Bill for granting certain Duties on Goods in the British Colonies, for the Support of Government.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.

By Captain Claxton, from Turks Island, we are informed, that on the First Day of June a French 74 Gun Ship, with a Snow, Sloop and Xebeque, came there from Cape Francois; turned off the People (about 200) that were making Salt, plundered and burnt their Cabbins, and carried them, with the English Vessels (about 9 Sail) to the Cape, where they were kept one Night, and then ordered to go where they pleased, only not to return to Turks Island; that the French brought a Number of People with them, among which some Tradesmen, said to be designed to build a Fort; and that they had erected a Light-house there.—One of the Vessels, we hear, went immediately to Jamaica, to inform the Admiral of what had happened.—Our Vessels, as well as the People on the Island, were robbed of sundry Things by the French.

By a Letter from Fort Cumberland there is Advice, that on the 13th of June the Militia, under Captain Lewis, on the Frontiers of Virginia, came up with, and killed, five Indians.

SCHEME of a LOTTERY, to be SOLD by the SUBSCRIBERS, being in the Secretary's Custody for that Purpose,

For the Use of Talbot County School.

THERE being a Necessity for making considerable Repairs on the Buildings of this School, and also some Additions thereto, for the Master's Convenience, and the Funds appropriated to it's Use being already charged with a heavy Debt: The Visitors, unprovided with any other Means, take Leave to propose the Method of Lottery, to raise the Sum of Three Hundred and Sixty Pounds, for answering the Purpose abovementioned.

This School, then the Abilities and extraordinary Assiduity of the present Master, has for many Years, even under great Disadvantages, been look'd upon as perhaps the best and most frequented in the Province: And should this Scheme succeed, and the Buildings be render'd more commodious, by having the School-Room enlarged, and the upper Chambers well fitted for the Reception of Boarders, it might soon become still more extensively useful than it has hitherto been.

INSTRUCTION, or right Education, is universally confessed to be one of the greatest Advantages in Life. It is the best and truest Improvement of our rational Faculties; and those useful Arts and Sciences, by which the Condition of Mankind has been rendered more happy and commodious, are, in a great Measure, owing to it. It purges off the Dross of Slavery and Superstition, and begets a friendly Aspect on Liberty, and the social Interests of Mankind.

SOLLICITOUS to secure this noble Advantage, and actuated, entirely, by Sentiments of Tenderness and Regard for the rising Generation, the Visitors flatter themselves that every Lover of his Country, and Friend of Mankind, will warmly promote a Lottery so laudable in it's Intention, and countenance, with his Favour and Indulgence, This NURSERY of SCHOOL-LEARNING.
